IDLE THOUGHTS FROM THE EDITOR

Okay — here is my last newsletter for 1994 — my last edition of "Idle Thoughts" forever. Why you ask ..??.. well the incoming president has given me a new job for next season, Education Chairman. He told me I'm allowed to be creative and entertaining when it comes to picking speakers, so be careful not to tell me anything interesting over the winter, I might just ask (or beg) you to tell it to the whole class!

Before I sign off and pass my pen on to John, I must say a big thank you to the real editor of The Greensheet - Wanda. She is the one that spends countless hours and miles each month gathering all of the information needed for the newsletter. Being in my second tour of duty on the board in fifteen years has shown me how far our association has progressed. Wanda's dedication to the Central Penn and it's members is a big part of that growth. Thanks for saving my butt each month Wanda and for listening to me say over and over - "Don't worry, I'll have everything ready by tomorrow".

Have a great winter everyone and if you think of anything good to talk about write it down, I'll be calling soon!

WEDGES OF WISDOM from Down & Dirty, Volume 1

It was once pointed out by a seasoned old Superintendent:

"A green always putts fastest just before it dies."

Comments of the golf swing:

"Never in the history of man has so much been written about so little for so many with so few results."

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The October meeting at Country Club of York as most of you know was our last scheduled meeting of the year. It was also our election meeting and let me tell you that you have one outstanding Board of Directors to run Central Penn Golf Course Superintendents Association. Anyway if you have never played at the Country Club of York, you missed a real treat. To begin with we had a good turnout of fun loving, golf fanatical colleagues show up on one of the most beautiful Fall days you could imagine. It was 72 degrees, absolutely no breeze, the color was fabulous, and the course was "next to none". Terry Wueschinski and his crew showed us why he makes "the big bucks". It was one of those situations that the day was so perfect you didn't want it to end. What a great time!

The meal and meeting that followed went right along with the entire day. My congratulations to all the new officers and board — looks great for 1995.

I would like to take this time to thank the Central Penn Board and all the members of the Superintendent Association for allowing me to serve as your president. I feel that we accomplished a lot, not as much as we would have hoped, but I felt we were able to move forward and keep the tradition of excellence that it is known for. Thanks for your confidence and support and the many friendships that were established and I know all this will continue through 1995.

Sincerely,

Tony Goodley, CGCS
Immediate Past President

CIBA PARTNERS WITH GCSAA TO PRESENT CERTIFICATION LUNCHEON

As a tribute to the extraordinary commitment made by certified golf course superintendents, Ciba Turf & Ornamental Products has joined forces with the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America to host a certification luncheon and program during GCSAA's 66th International Golf Course Conference and Show. GCSAA's annual conference and show is scheduled for February 20-27, 1995, at the Moscone Center in San Francisco.

The GCSAA and Ciba partnership will include an exclusive complimentary luncheon and program for certified golf course superintendents to be held Friday, February 24, in the San Francisco Marriott. Invitations were mailed to all certified superintendents in October.

GCSAA President Joseph G. Baidy, CGCS, said: "With this new partnership program, Ciba is helping us to provide even greater recognition of the importance of becoming a certified golf course superintendent. GCSAA is extremely pleased and proud that Ciba has stepped forward to present this program."

The luncheon is scheduled for 12:15-1:00 PM, with the program following from 1:00-1:45 PM. There will be a discussion of new certification eligibility requirements.
